

For Immediate Release

LOS ANGELES, CA – July 5, 2009 – Inspired Girls, a Los Angeles based organization will produce its second annual teen girl empowerment event, Inspired Girls Success Summit, on Saturday, August 15, 2009 in Huntsville, Alabama. The Inspired Girls Success Summit is an event designed to educate and inspire teen girls on the foundational principles that are essential to success as a woman. The event will feature expert speakers from across the country who will use cutting edge teaching techniques to give girls the tools they need to craft the life of their dreams.

“Inspired Girls is excited about a new year of this event. We have strong visions for the success of teen girls, and we have added new features to create an unforgettable experience for the girls. This event is about more than feeling good – the entire course of their lives will change,” says Inspired Girls Executive Director Lisa Nicole Bell.

As a woman still in her twenties, Lisa understands the challenges that teens today are facing. Her own experiences combined with her education, experience, and vision have resulted in this dynamic organization of community leaders, parents, and teens who realize that women are emerging as society’s leaders. Inspired Girls goes beyond self-esteem; the Success Summit teaches girls the practical information about life they aren’t taught in school.

At a time when teen girls are often associated with rebellion, violence, hypersexual tendencies and apathy, Inspired Girls is using its research to create relevant programs for teens. Lisa Nicole Bell has partnered with psychologists, social scientists, teachers, and non-profit CEOs to develop her program that is the foundation of this inspirational day. The curriculum covers money management, education, beauty, health & fitness, and much more. Lisa’s interactive program is both educational and fun.

Inspired Girls is one of the only organizations in the country that serves girls who fall into what Lisa refers to as her “Bell curve”, the sector of girls who are often ignored because they are not overachievers and are not at-risk. Programs offered include day long empowerment events, books, workbooks, seminars, and more.

Inspired Girls will expand its events into a ten city tour in 2010.
